

Applying the Method to Find a Perfect Road for a Square

Louis Miller | 40298094

Queens' University Belfast

1 Derivation

Applying the method to a square with $B = 2$ and $A = 1$ results in a catenary curve of $y = -\cosh(x)$, the cycle is confined to $-1 < x < 1$, and is repeated indefinitely as far as the square travels.